

As our community is still facing the COVID 19 threat we find another on the near horizon. Hurricane season officially begins Monday, June 1st and considering the impact of our current situation on the supply of regular goods and services, we must start to plan and prepare as soon as possible.

Over the next week you will be presented with different activities you can use to construct your hurricane preparedness plan. There are many online resources you can use. Here are some great choices if you are just getting started and need a good foundation to build from:

www.weather.gov/wrn/hurricane-preparedness

www.ready.gov/hurricanes

#HurricaneSeason

Preparing for a hurricane can be a daunting task, but if you begin now and follow some simple guides you can build a successful plan to make it through this hurricane season.

BE READY FOR HURRICANE SEASON

Before the 2020 hurricane season, there are actions you can take to be ready.

TODAY
YOU CAN:

Make a list of supplies for your hurricane kit. Check to see what you already have. Restock during the next several weeks.

Organize important documents and confirm coverage with your insurance agency.

Determine if you live in a hurricane evacuation zone. Make a plan of action with multiple options.